

1st International Workshop and Congress of Forensic Toxicology

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the Society of Forensic Toxicology, Ankara University Institute of Forensic Sciences and Society of Forensic Scientists, it is our great pleasure to invite all of you to the 1st International Congress of Forensic Toxicology.

This Congress is aimed to bring together forensic toxicologists from different countries and to share and enhance knowledge on latest international researches on the subject. However, topics will not be limited only to forensic issues, and will cover genetic toxicology, occupational diseases and toxicology, post-mortem toxicology, ethical and legal requirements in clinical research, heavy metals and toxicology, and daily life and toxicology. There will be various interactive poster sessions and a trade exhibition.

The program features the latest developments in forensic sciences and in other toxicology related areas.

The Congress venue is in the capital Ankara with various accommodation opportunities, restaurants, museums, pubs and cafes. Beside its historic buildings, the city has many peerless museums such as Museum of Anatolian Civilizations and Ethnographic Museum, Augustus Temple and Roman Baths, and other landmarks including Mausoleum of Atatürk, Hacı Bayram Mosque and Ankara Castle. We do of course hope that will also avail yourselves of the beautiful meeting venue and all that it has to offer and take this opportunity to interact with other colleagues and students.

We are looking forward you to join us in Ankara in November 2014.

Let's meet in 1st ForeTox!
